A Horrifying Tale

Anupa's (name changed) mother married at a very tender age. After few years of her mother's marriage things between her father and mother started getting tensed. So when things between them could not work out they separated from each other, she could no longer stand the physical torture laid upon her by her husband.

Anupa's mother after leaving her husband went to her parent's house and started staying with them. Anupa was born at her maternal grandparent's house. After giving birth to Anupa, her mother married again to another man and started staying with him, while Anupa lived with her grandparents and her uncle.

Anupa was admitted to a nearby school and was living a contended and a happy life. During her holidays she used to visit her friends house to watch television. One day Anupa went to her friends place to watch television and came home a little late, her uncle scolded her very badly and threatened her that if she repeated this again she would be thrown out from the house. Anupa was very hurt by this and decided to leave the house. That very night she ran away and went to Malekhu. There in Malekhu she met a boy who asked her about her whereabouts and promised to help her. That boy took her to a hotel and made arrangements for her to stay there and asked her if she wanted to work in that hotel. She agreed to work but was not paid, she was provided with only food and shelter. After a week Anupa's uncle came searching for her and took Anupa with him. Anupa was beaten up badly by her uncle and was warned never to leave the house again. But the very next day she again ran away from the house and went back to Malekhu and started working in the same hotel. But again Anupa's uncle came searching for her, but this time Anupa refused to go back with him. Knowing this Anupa's uncle got very angry and left her saying that she no longer had any relation with him and with her grandparent's. As she was not paid for her work, she along with her friend working in the same hotel decided to leave this work and go find a new job where they would be paid well. From Maleku they left for Mugling searching for a new job. In Mugling they found a similar kind of job, working in a hotel without being paid, only food and shelter was provided. There they worked for few days and again decided to leave that job. From their they left for Kathmandu. They knew no one in Kathmandu and were wandering here and there in the bus stand. After sometime a boy came and asked Anupa and her friend about their whereabouts. Anupa, explained him everything and told him that they were in search of work. So knowing everything about them that boy promised to help them. He first asked them to come along with him to his sister's house. So that night the boy enticed Anupa telling her that he would marry her. That night Anupa and the boy were physically intimate. The next morning when Anupa woke up she found that the boy had already left and came to know that this place where he had brought her telling her that it was his sister's house was a brothel. Anupa was now in a place where no girl would want to be and would be her worst nightmare. Anupa refused to work in that brothel, but at last she had to surrender and work because she no longer could tolerate the torture laid upon her.

After working there for four month without being paid a single penny she somehow managed to run away from that place. She had no place to go and finally decided to go back to Mugling where she was working before. As she was hurrying to get inside the truck to go back to Mungling a man was noticing her because she looked very scared and nervous. So seeing her look so nervous and scared he asked her what happened to her and why was she so worried. Anupa was left with no option but to tell him her "Horrifying story". Finally Anupa met someone who genuinely wanted to help her and brought her in the safe hands of Maiti Nepal.

Anupa now wants to punish those culprits who made her life living hell and wants to help the Maiti Nepal team to arrest those people. She also wants to complete her further studies

Yet another story

My family consists of me, my husband and my two daughters. We were living in Kumarithan in a rented house. My husband worked as a laborer in Kathmandu. A woman named Bimala Tamang used to visit our village quite often because her sister in law lived near my house. Bimala's husband and my husband worked together in Kathmandu. So my husband and Bimala's husband decided to take us along with them to Kathmandu. We all then moved to Kathmandu.

One day Bimala told me that I was working too hard .She suggested me to go to Delhi where I could get a job and would be paid for it.

Bimala used to come to my house quite frequently and sometimes would take me for movies. One day Bimala came to my house with her brother and brother in law and introduced me to them. After 4-5 days Bimala asked me to come along with her, she did not tell me where we were going. So ,me and my daughter went along with Bimala , her brother and brother in law. First we took a bus to Kirtipur. After reaching Kirtipur one of Bimala's brother left us. From Kirtipur we left for Hetauda. When asked Bimala where were we going, she then told me that she was taking me to Pokhara to work. After 5-10 minute she got down from the bus telling me that she wanted to go to the toilet but never came back. I was terrified and completely unaware of what was happening.

Bimla's brother told me that we were going to Delhi. I had no idea what was going to happen to me and my daughter. Reaching Delhi after two days, he took me to his aunt and uncle's house and introduced me to them. There we stayed for 15 days because I was suffering from tuberculosis and the next 15 days we stayed at his friends place named Manju. So one day Bimala's brother took me to G.B road and said that I was sold in a brothel for 1,50,000. I was completely pulverized and shocked.

I was left in a brothel where my body would be sold every day to men who would be pouncing on me like a hungry tiger. I was tortured and beaten up when refused to work. After spending 20 days in that brothel , I met a Nepali boy. I told him my story and asked him for help. He first asked me to run away from that place then only he could help me. He gave me his phone number and asked me to come to the bus stand. I somehow managed to run away from that place and met him at the bus stand. There he hurried me inside a bus which was going to Nepal.

I was a victim of trafficking and forced into prostitution. My life turned upside down, everything changed in my life. Everyday I wish whatever happened to me was just a nightmare....a bad dream. But the reality is that I was sold in a brothel just for money.

Now I request Maiti Nepal to find those culprits and punish them for committing such a heinous and inexcusable crime.
